A Refreshing Celebration of Companionship

Arike organised a refreshing day for patients from the Vaduthala zone on 26th October at Don Bosco School as part of the 'Chitrolsavam' film-screening programme. The programme brought together patients, caregivers, and volunteers from various palliative care units across Kochi.

The participants who are elderly or typically home-bound enjoyed a refreshing experience outside their routine. The programme was facilitated by students from Don Bosco College, Sulthan Bathery, and KMM College, Thrikkakara, whose presence added youthful warmth and enthusiasm to the day.

The film screening created moments of joy and reflection. "It felt so nice to watch a film after so many years," said one among them with a smile. Another added, "More than the movie, it was the feeling of being together that made the day special."

Caregivers and volunteers expressed their happiness in seeing the participants so engaged. The event fostered a sense of togetherness, reminding everyone that palliative care is as much about emotional connection and shared joy as it is about medical support.

This may have been a small event for us — but it brought profound joy to those entrapped within the four walls of their homes, offering them a few hours of freedom, friendship, and nostalgic feelings.

Volunteer Diaries

“When I first joined Arike as a student volunteer, I didn’t know that the moments spent here could hold so much meaning in my life. What makes Arike special is the way everyone — doctors, nurses, social workers, drivers, and volunteers — work together like one family. There’s a quiet strength in how they reach homes filled with pain and turn them into spaces of dignity and peace. To be a small part of that journey is a privilege. Arike doesn’t just offer medical care; it brings compassion to life” - Hashir, Student volunteer

Care Info

Caring for the Caregiver

Behind every patient, there is often a silent hero- the caregiver. They may be the spouse, child, neighbour, or friend, quietly dedicating hours each day to feeding, bathing, comforting, and accompanying the person they love. While the patient's pain is visible, the caregiver's exhaustion often goes unseen. Over time, they may experience fatigue, frustration, or sadness, but often they suppress it out of love and duty. In palliative care, caring for caregivers is equally important. A short visit to listen to their worries can make a big difference. Encouraging rest, emotional breaks, and shared responsibility helps prevent burnout. Caregivers deserve as much compassion as those they care for.

A Heartfelt Thank You

At Arike, every act of kindness becomes a source of strength for the patients and families we serve. We extend our deepest gratitude to all our supporters whose generosity, trust, and encouragement continue to uplift our mission. Your contributions—big and small—help us deliver dignified, compassionate care to those facing serious health-related suffering.
